Ever look around a room in your house and it just didn't seem right? Somehow when you purchased the furniture it seemed perfect for that special room, but when you arranged it, the room didn't look as inviting as you thought it would.

Rancho Santa Margarita resident Sandy Anchondo and her partner Cindy Stock can help. The two girls have started a business called Re-Style Interiors.

The whole idea is focusing on the room, then utilizing the client's existing furniture, art and accessories and viola! Your room looks like it could be on a magazine cover! Anchondo is a member of I.R.I.S. (Interior Redesign Industry Specialists).

The first step is a consultation with the girls visiting your home to discuss the challenges and the client's desires. Then a day is set up to do the actual work. The client is asked to stay away for the day. When they return most clients are amazed at the visual impact achieved by professionally re-arranging items they already own!

The first step is to dismantle the entire room. The girls may take an item from another room that would look better placed elsewhere or they may add greenery or something as simple as adding light next to a large plant.

Re-Style Interiors also specializes in space organization and de-clutter services. The price varies depending on the size of the space.

The hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday to Saturday. The telephone number is 635-9810.
