Local Designer Decorates New Home for Habitat Family

RANCHO SANTA MARGARITA, CALIFORNIA, October 19, 2006 – Re-Style Interiors owner and RSM resident, Sandy Anchondo completed the decoration of a new home this month in Cypress. It was one of a seven-unit complex built by the Orange County chapter of the Habitat for Humanity. As a volunteer designer for the Furnishing Hope organization, Anchondo received the profile of a family who was selected for the Habitat home. It was her responsibility to create an interior environment for the family including the installation of furnishings, window coverings and accessories. Starting with a color scheme that was chosen by the family, she designed the rooms with each individual family member in mind. “The most rewarding part of the project for me was watching the family view the completed home design for the first time,” she said. The preview ceremony was a joyful occasion held on the evening of October 19th.

Furnishing Hope (www.furnishinghope.org) is an Orange County based non-profit corporation dedicated to furnishing homes for people in need. They work closely with Habitat for Humanity of Orange County and other groups.
